

Finishing School, Christy Thomas

–

The Patriot Library

–

Arte Útil archive nr:
163

Initiator:
Finishing School, Christy Thomas

Location:
United States

Category:
pedagogical, politics

Users:
Citizens, Christy Thomas, artists
collective Finishing School

Maintained by:
The initiators

Duration:
2003

Description:

The project consists of a collection of documents such as books, periodicals and other media that could be considered dangerous without questioning the motivation of the user. The archive keeps no records of users' personal information or which materials they consult. It offers printed books, manuscripts, maps, photographs, prints and drawings, sound recordings, digital images and artifacts. The organisers of the project oppose any governmental action which may lead to intimidation of its users or to limit intellectual freedom. This project was first presented at Lucky Tackle, an art gallery in Oakland, CA. It is currently available online.

Goals:

The Patriot Library's goal is to provide free access to books, periodicals, and other media which may be censored because considered dangerous. It makes available the widest diversity of views and expressions and it opposes and challenges all attempts to impose censorship. The project is nomadic and can be replicated and take on various spatial configurations.

Beneficial Outcomes:

The Patriot Library offers access to these materials, returning them to the public domain.

Images:

